Turkish Nationalist Bashi-Bazouks, headed by Turkish officers, surrounded the Greek quarter and set it ablaze, shooting all who attempted to escape, the officers declared.

When the steamer sailed, the large Greek church at Samson was ablaze and thousands of Greek women and children were rushing to the water front, seeking refuge on steamers.

The Barbita sent a wireless message to an American warship in the neighborhood urging her to hasten to the rescue.

Government Wins United Shoe Machinery Suit

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—The government today won in the supreme court in the case brought by the United Shoe Machinery Corporation and others to have set aside the restraining order prohibiting them from using certain lease clauses in their contracts for the rental of patented machinery.

The supreme court affirmed the decree of the United States district court at St. Louis, which enjoined the corporation, under the Clayton act.

The lower federal court prohibited the corporation from compelling, by lease agreements, the exclusive use of its machines and from enforcing an alternative royalty clause, found to be prohibitive, upon all footwear manufactured in factories where machines of competitors were also used.

It also held invalid the agreement by which the corporation required those using its machines to purchase supplies of it.

Justice McKenna dissented, but did not express his views. Justice Brandeis took no part in the consideration of the case.

Battle Staged In Fashionable Quarter

ROME, April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—A pitched battle between Fascist, or extreme nationalist, and Communist occurred yesterday in the fashionable Via Po quarter, where the many tourist hotels are crowded with Americans.

The fighting continued for some time in the form of sniping from points of vantage about the various buildings. Police finally drove away the Communists, who they said had attacked the Fascists as the latter emerged from a meeting.

AFTER GENOA, WHAT?

GENOA, April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—After Genoa, what? This is the question uppermost in the minds of the delegates to the international economic conference.

Experts and delegates alike are agreed that it probably will be necessary to have two more conferences at least before peace is restored in Europe and financial reconstruction becomes possible.

Disarmament Conference Next Step
Granting that the Russian problem is settled in principle, and recognition is granted Russia by the Genoa conference, which apparently is the most that can be hoped for from the present gathering, a disarmament conference probably would be the next step in an effort to end what the Russians say is virtually a state of war between Japan and Soviet Russia, Turkey and Greece might also be admitted to this conference in an effort to stop the fighting in Asia Minor.

France Ready To Discuss It With Friends

France has expressed a desire to discuss disarmament with her friends, but not with her enemies; consequently, there may be some difficulty in getting her to enter a general disarmament or peace conference embracing all the powers, which still have enemies on a war footing.

Frank A. Vanderlip, the American financier; Professor Gustave Cassel, Swedish economist; and other experts at Genoa apparently are agreed that summoning of a disarmament conference is a necessary step before a successful financial or economic conference is possible, as lessened military expenses are imperative before loans can be floated on a large scale.

STRIKING PRECEDENT IS SET BY TWO POWERS

Calls Meeting Of Powers
GENOA, April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—Premier Facta, of Italy, as president of the economic conference, issued a sudden summons this afternoon for a conference at 3 p. m. of the heads of the inviting powers now in Genoa.

It developed one reason for the calling of the conference was the announcement of the signing of the Russo-German treaty.

The announced object of the meeting was to adjust by consultation the attitude of the allies toward the Russian question. The Japanese were included in the invitation.

Sign Separate Treaty
GENOA, April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—A treaty between Germany and Russia was signed at Rapallo yesterday, the signatories being the foreign ministers of the two countries, George Chicherin, for Russia, and Dr. Walter Rathenau, for Germany. The treaty nullifies the Brest-Litovsk treaty and reestablishes full diplomatic relations on an equality basis.

The pact cancels all war claims as well as claims arising from the nationalization of property.

The treaty signed yesterday, it is stated, represents the conclusion of negotiations begun many months ago.

Striking Precedent
This action by delegates to the Genoa economic conference in meeting independently and negotiating a treaty outside the scope of the conference itself is pointed to as establishing a striking precedent for the nations who are participating in the discussion of the Russian problem here.

In connection with the mutual renunciation of nationalization of property claims and war claims, the treaty expressed the friendly hope that the other powers would do likewise.

Rude Jolt To Genoa Conferees
Announcement of the signing of the treaty came as a rather rude surprise to the Genoa conferees and it was pointed to by observers as likely to make more difficult the position of some of the other allies in their attitude toward Russia.

By the new treaty, replacing the Brest-Litovsk pact, which has been so humiliating to the Soviet leaders, Germany is the first great power to grant Russia full recognition, Poland and the Baltic states have long had diplomatic relations with the Soviet government, but Germany has been withholding recognition because of failure to obtain satisfaction of the claims for the murder of Count Mirbach, who was assassinated in Moscow in 1918 when he went there as German ambassador under the terms of the Brest-Litovsk treaty.

Attempt Made To Assassinate Michael Collins

DUBLIN, April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—An attempt on the life of Michael Collins, head of the provisional free state government, was made here shortly after midnight this morning coming almost simultaneously with an assault on the Beggars Bush headquarters of the Irish Republican army, says an official statement.

Rifled-Armed Men Attacked Party
Mr. Collins was on his way home after having addressed a meeting at Naas, County Kildare, when the attack occurred. A group of men, some armed with rifles, rushed at the Collins party car and opened fire, the free state leader apparently being the special target.

The Collins party quickly returned the fire, and one of the attackers was captured. A revolver and a live bomb were found on him.

Beggars Bush Barracks Attacked
During the fighting a general headquarters car from the Beggars Bush barracks was disabled by rifle fire and captured. The headquarters barracks was attacked by riflemen from all sides at midnight, about twenty shots being discharged.

Commandant General Eoinis was fired at outside the gate. The garrison raked the surrounding territory with bullets and the assaulting party withdrew.

Army Transport Attacked
An army transport also was attacked, but without results, the besiegers fleeing after a sharp exchange of shots. Shots were fired on the premises occupied by the civic guard at Babsbridge. No damage and no casualties were reported.

In his speech at Naas, County Kildare yesterday, Mr. Collins charged the opponents of the provisional free state government with setting barriers against the onward march of the nation.

He declared that Eamon DeValera had adopted "methods of anarchy" because the people of Ireland were not willing to allow him to decide the treaty question for them. DeValera regarded this attitude of the people as an "unforgivable sin" and for it they were to be deprived of their right to choose a government.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 17.—(By the Associated Press).—Conspiracy to bribe prohibition enforcement officers, including Bert C. Morgan, the federal prohibition director for Indiana, is charged against George Remus, Cincinnati lawyer, and eight others in the indictment returned recently in the federal court here.

In addition the defendants are Remus, his brother-in-law, Harry F. Brown; George Conners, Harry Garreling; George Dater, John Gerham and Ernest Brady. All were said to live in Cincinnati, except Brady, whose home is in Covington, Ky.

Believe Mice Caused Fire

Fire of unknown origin thought to have been started probably by mice gnawing matches caused a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Emis, 4021 Rhodes avenue, New Boston about 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Emis were at church when it started.

The New Boston firemen received the telephone call and understood the fire to be at 3021 Rhodes avenue which is in East Portsmouth. When New Boston persons saw the firemen going towards East Portsmouth they called the East End firemen and they went to the village but not before the New Boston firemen had returned to the village and located the fire. The fire was in a clothes press under a stairway. A trunk full of clothing was destroyed, flooring was burned from the press and the door to the press was burned. Will Hubbard owns the house and carries insurance on the property. Mr. Emis had insurance on the contents. He places the damage at about $250.

A Glorious Cantata At All Saints'

Easter Day at All Saints' church fully maintained the traditions of its honored past. In spite of serious losses through death and removal the number of communicants made was in excess of last year and the Easter offering, with some contributions still to come, was larger than in 1921.

As usual the altar and sanctuary were beautifully decorated. As in former years the rector administered

Holy Baptism to a number of infants at an afternoon service. Great credit is due to all concerned for maintaining the high standards established in former years under the ever increasing handicap of a location which could not well be worse than it is.

The fine work done under adverse conditions only goes to show that with a change of location the success of the parish would be nothing short of phenomenal.

BURGLAR IS FRIGHTENED AWAY

MAY TRY TO SECURE INJUNCTION TO DELAY SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

There is much feeling in Rush Township over a proposal to issue bonds in the sum of $22,000 to build a first grade high school at McDermott, an election to authorize the issue having been called for Wednesday. Rush township has always had two voting precincts and as the township is a large one, it is necessary to have two in order to allow voters facilities for reaching the polls and voting. It is charged that in order to insure the carrying of the bond proposal, the advocates of the new High School have resorted to a scheme by which, under their call, all voting shall take place at the McDermott precinct. This eliminates precinct A voting place and, if legal, would compel all voters to travel to McDermott in order to vote. Many people will be unable to reach McDermott, and a large proportion of the township is virtually disfranchised; and will have no say as to whether or not they need an additional high school and shall pay higher taxes. It is a fair election, a majority of the voters, voting at their usual places, decide they want a high school at McDermott, those objecting will have nothing to say further, but many do not see the necessity for a high school for the whole township, as it would not benefit many outside of McDermott. From the Point Creek end it would not be practicable for students to attend at McDermott. Portsmouth is much more accessible. At the upper end of the township Lucasville is the logical place to send the students desiring a high school education. Feeling that the courts will not permit injustice, it is understood that an appeal in the way of asking for a temporary injunction, will be made, in an effort to halt proceedings, and compel a fair election, with the usual voting precincts being used.

Flames Awaken Catsby Sly; Partner Beats It; Sly Being Held For Investigation

When "Catsby" Sly and a friend filled up on moonshine Sunday they went to their room in the Caroline Riggs property southwest corner Fourth and Gay streets where they slept the bed after about 2:30 o'clock. When the fire started "Catsby's" friend beat a hasty retreat and so far has kept out of the reach of the local police.

The bed clothing was soon tossed out of a window and firemen quickly extinguished the fire. Traffic officers Schroeder and Kennard arrested Sly and took him to the police station where he is held for investigation. After the firemen left the scene, someone picked up the half burned bed clothing and carried it back into the house. One of the comforts contained a spark that was not extinguished by chemicals and after smoldering all afternoon it started a fire about 7:30 Sunday evening and firemen were called back to the house. The fire alarm was telephoned in and the East End firemen understood the call to be from Front and Gay streets and made the run to that corner and then to Fourth and Gay streets. Hazelbeck will insure you.

Knights Templar Attend Services

About one hundred Knights Templar of Calvary Commandery No. 13 attended Easter services at Bigelow church last night. The Knights met at their hall at 6:15 and marched to the church. They were in full dress uniform.

Rev. C. E. Chandler delivered a special thirty minute talk, choosing for his subject, "Proof of Immortality." Following the short sermon, Bigelow choir, under the direction of Mrs. S. R. Timmonds, rendered the musical cantata, "Eastertide."

The church was crowded at this service families and friends of many of the Knights Templar being present. The cantata was beautifully rendered and thoroughly enjoyed.

Family Awakened; House Burns

A four room frame cottage on Gallia pike Lakeside, opposite Whitaker-glessner blast furnace was partially destroyed by fire about 3:30 o'clock Monday morning. The Charles Estep and H. H. Estep families occupied the house and were asleep when the fire started. A man passing on a bicycle noticed the rear part of the cottage afire and when he did not see anyone around he went to the house and awakened the members of the two families who succeeded in saving only a few pieces of furniture. The stranger, after arousing the family went to the village and notified the New Boston firemen who made a quick run to the scene. A fire hydrant in front of the house aided the firemen in getting a stream on the fire in short order but not before the roof and most of the house was burned along with most of the contents. The house was owned by Stanley Pritchard of this city. Hazelbeck will insure you.

Water Is Overlapping The Towpath

The high water in the Scioto backed up by the high stage of the Ohio, was overlapping the low places on the towpath this afternoon. The crest of the rise is expected tonight, so the water should be off the road some time Tuesday. It is possible that the road will not be covered to a depth that will stop travel by horse and buggy. The Ohio was rising less than an inch an hour this afternoon.

Drives Car While Intoxicated; Jailed

For driving his automobile while intoxicated Arthur Adams, 29, was fined $25 and sentenced to jail for five days by Judge McCall in Municipal court Monday when the accused admitted guilt. The court also suspended Adams' license to drive for a period of sixty days.

Adams was arrested early Sunday after he attempted to drive his car through the railroad cut between Eleventh and Waller streets.

SEARCH FOR BODIES IS ABANDONED

Search for the bodies of Thomas Truitt, 45, married, Leonard Warnock, 24 and Andrew Warnock, 19, single, who drowned in the Ohio river opposite the N. & W. Terminal last Tuesday when they capsized when about 100 yards from the Kentucky shore to which they were returning after completing a day's work at the N. & W. Terminal, has been given up temporarily on account of the high water.

Local Diver Nate Williams and a diver from Point Pleasant visited the scene Sunday and informed the wife of Truitt and the parents of the Warnock brothers that the rising river made it almost impossible to search for the bodies. Mrs. Truitt was willing to pay well for the services of a diver but they explained to her that it would be a waste of money to dive with river at such a stage. They also said it was next to useless to keep dragging and that the best thing the men could do was to keep a sharp watch along the banks so that the bodies could be caught if they are washed ashore. Men in boats were still at the search Sunday but later acting on the advice of the divers they gave it up and returned to their jobs at the N. & W. Terminal. Nearly every man in King's addition east of Fullerton, gave up his work for several days to search for the bodies. Mrs. Truitt and Mrs. Grant Warnock are offering rewards for the recovery of the bodies.

"THE STROLLERS" HERE THURSDAY

The best cast ever formed by a university dramatic club made the three act comedy of Harry James Smith a thing which surpasses itself. This is the manner in which the Columbus Dispatch characterized the play "Mrs. Rumpstead Leitch" of the Ohio State University Dramatic Club of the Ohio State University when it was presented in Columbus previous to the commencement of the club's spring tour. Three performances were given to capacity audiences. The play is to be presented at the High School auditorium, Thursday evening. The play critic declares that the comedy, filled with possibilities for the polishing up of incidents and characterizations has been seized by the university men and women and given a zest of comic life that is delightful. As the spurious English lady of position, Mrs. Rumpstead Leitch played by Georgia Parkus, who for several years has been gathering dramatic laurels with the club and independent of it, holds a role of many facets to a north light and strikes color and fire from it.

Water Off Pike County Road

happening with me, Hapgood. Not to me—with me. I had to get away from them for a bit. I'm going back tomorrow. Effie was right—with her baby. She was glad I should go—glad for me. I mean, top of her own misery. Hapgood, she's miserable at what she says she let me in for. She's always crying about it. She's torn between knowing my house is the only place where she can have her baby, between that and seeing what her coming into the place has caused. She spends her time trying to do a little thing she can to make me comfortable. It's pathetic, you know. Dumped at this sudden idea of mine of getting away for a couple of days. Passed over me parking up and all that, you know. Look, just to show you how she hunts about for anything to do for me—said my old straw hat was much too shabby for Brighton and would I get her some stuff, axalic acid, and let her clean it up for me. As a matter of fact she made such a shocking mess of the hat that I hardly liked to wear it. I couldn't hunt her feelings though. I checked it into the car when I got here and bought this one. Make a funny story for her when I get back about how it blew off. That's the sort of life we lead together. Hapgood, give you another example just when I had brought her the stuff for my hat. Met me with, Had I lost anything? Said I was to guess. Guessed at last that it must be my cigar case. It was. She'd found it lying about and took me to show where she'd put it for safety—in the back of the clock in my room. Said I was always to look there for my little valuables I might miss, and wanted me to know how she liked to be careful of my things like that. Fustling over me, d'you see? That's the sort of life we lead together. Hapgood— together; but the life I'm caught up in, the things that are happening with me, that I'm right in the middle of, that I feel I had to get away from for a bit—astounding, Hapgood, astounding, amazing,....

"Hapgood, if I kept forty women in different parts of London and made no secret of it, nothing would be said. People would know I was rather a shameless lot, my little ways would be an open secret, but nothing would be said. I should be received everywhere. But I'm thought to have brought one woman into my house and I'm hounded. I'm unspeakable."

"Do you see, Hapgood? Do you see? The conventions are all right, moral, sound, excellent, admirable, but to save their own face there's a blind side to them, a shut-eye side. Keep that side of them and you're all right. They'll let you alone. They'll pretend they don't see you. But come out and stand in front of them and they'll devour you. They'll smash and grind and devour you, Hapgood. They're devouring me."

"That's where they've got me in their jaws, Hapgood, and where they've got Effie in their jaws is just precisely again on a blind, shut-eye side. They're rightly blind, they're absolutely just. You can't guess them, but to save their face, again, they're indelibly blind and deaf to the hideous cruelties in their application. They mean well. They cause the most frightful suffering, the most frightful tragedies, but they won't look at them, they won't think of them, they won't speak of them; they mean well,...."

"Old Sabre put his head in his hands. He might have been praying. "With that he went back to all that stuff I told you he told me when I was down with him last month. He said, his face all pink under his skin, he said, 'Hapgood, I've got the secret. I've got the key to my riddle that's been puzzling me all my life. Light, more light. Here it is: God is—love. Not this, that, nor the other that the intelligences revolve at, and puts aside, and goes away, and goes on hungering, hungering, and unsatisfied; nothing like that; but just this, plain for a child, clear as daylight for grown intelligence; God is—love. Listen to this, Hapgood: 'He that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God and God in him: for God is love.' Ecstasy, Hapgood, ecstasy."

"When I saw him again was about three o'clock, and I walked right into the middle of the development that has pretty well let the roof down on him."

"He was in the lobby. No one else there. Only a man who'd just been speaking to him and who left him and went out as I came in. Sabre had two papers in his hands. He was staring at them and you'd ha' thought from his face he was staring at a ghost. They were divorce papers. The citation and petition papers that have to be served personally. Divorce papers. His wife had instituted divorce proceedings against him. Naming the girl, Effie.

"Yes, you can whistle. He was knocked out. I got him up to his room. It was pretty awful. He sat on the bed with the papers in his hands, gibbering. Just gibbering. Was his wife mad? Was she crazy? He to be guilty of a thing like that? A vile, hideous, sordid thing like that? A girl employed in his own house? Effie! His wife to believe that? An unspeakable, beastly thing like that? He tried to show me with his finger the words on the paper. His finger shaking all over the thing. 'Hapgood, do you see this, vile, obscene word here? I'm guilty of that? My wife, Mabel, think me capable of that? Adulteress! Adulteress! My God, my God, adulteress! The word makes me sick. The very word is like poison in my mouth. And I am to swallow it. It is to be me, my name, my title, my brand. Adulteress! Adulteress!'"

"MY GOD, THE WORD MAKES ME SICK!"

"I tell you, old man,.... I tell you,...."

"I managed to get him talking about the practical side of it. That I managed to make him listen while I talked."

"Next morning—that's this morning, you understand—he was a little more normal, able to realize things a bit. I mean: in a panic fever to be off and state at the Regent's that he was going to defend the action; but normal enough for me to see it was all right for him to go straight on

NERVOUS WRECK FOR SIX WEEKS

Kentucky Lady Tells How She Became Strong and Healthy—

Recommends Cardui to Weak Women.

Mount Vernon, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Vanhook, formerly of Stamford, but now residing here, says that after her third child was born, she undertook to resume her household soon, and this caused her a great deal of trouble.

"I began to feel weak and all played out—not myself at all," as Mrs. Vanhook describes her condition. "For about six weeks I was just a nervous wreck. I had to have some one do all my housework."

"My doctor told me my imprudence had caused shock to the nervous system, and the thing to do was to use a tonic to build up my strength."

"He recommended Cardui.... Very soon I saw an improvement in my condition. I used three bottles of Cardui and.... my health was restored."

"I am a strong, healthy woman." This Kentucky lady adds that she "never fails to recommend Cardui to weak and run-down lady friends."

"Thousands of women praise Cardui to their friends. This mild, harmless, vegetable tonic medicine has been in successful use for over forty years, in the treatment of many common ailments suffered by women."

home immediately after and tell the girl what she had to do and all that. I told him, by the way, that it would pretty well have to come out now, ultimately, when the child's father was the girl would practically have to give that up in the end to clear him. You know, I told him that in the cab going along down. He ground his teeth over it. It was horrible to hear him. He said he'd kill the chap if he could ever discover him; ground his teeth and said he'd kill him, now—after this."

"Well, he got through his business about twelve—Then a thing happened. Can't think now what it meant. We were waiting for a cab near the Law Court. A cab was just pulling in when a man came up and touched Sabre and said, 'Mr. Sabre? Sabre said, 'Yes and the chap said very civilly, 'Might I speak to you a minute, sir?"

"Suddenly someone shoved past me and there was old Sabre getting into the cab with this chap who had come up to him. I said, 'Hallo! Hallo! Who are you?"

"He turned round on me a few paces as he went, absolutely dead as a man's face. He said, 'Yes, I'm Sabre, and sort of fell over his side, as he said, 'Addington to the driver and was at the door, shutting it. I went through the window, 'Sabre! Mr. man, are you ill?"

"He put his head towards me and said in a most extraordinary way, speaking between his clenched teeth, as though he was keeping his breath from coming out, 'If you see me, Hapgood, get right away from it from me and let me alone. This man happens to live at Tildesley, I know him. We're going down together."

"I said, 'Sabre—"

"He clenched his teeth so that I were all bare with his lips coming out. He said, 'Let me alone, let me alone. Let me alone."

"And they pushed off."

"I tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going down there tomorrow, frightened about him."

S.S.S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women—whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, your blood will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S.S.S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S.S.S. builds up thin, run-down people. It puts firm flesh on your bones. It sends out your face, neck, neck, makes the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from the eyes and it gives Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S.S.S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatic, rosy, better. Eruptions are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are guaranteed, purely vegetable. S.S.S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

"Now, I'll tell you, old Sabre, he does, it's dreadful. He's mad."

"Look, Sabre, it's in two parts, a sad, sad development. Two parts—morning and afternoon, yesterday and a bit of today. An extraordinary, extraordinary business."

Cal-o-cide FOOT REMEDY

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, work, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I wonder if you could say something that would give me encouragement. I am almost out of the twenties. I work every day and am most miserable. Why am I so unhappy you may ask. It is this: We are almost strangers here. My mother will not visit with anyone or go anywhere and lives such a way that I can't invite anyone home to spend an evening or so. She is most devoted and proud, although we are poor folks. I have given her enough to dress as other women do but she will not do so. I just simply hate her and above all a poor kept house. Can you tell me why anyone will be so contrary and stoven when the center of civilization is the home and should be a place of comfort instead of a madhouse? Sometimes I think I could do well to marry but how can I when there is sure trouble ahead. To go somewhere else would mean more trouble and leave nothing to go to some poorhouse or something. If I would do that the neighbors would look down on me more than they do now. The way we are living at present I am scoffed at and my reputation torn all to pieces. I have done all that I can do. I have so reached the stage of despair I have not had a day's enjoyment for years. I have tried everything my superiors and friends have suggested but it has been without effect. People write to you about married and powdered girls as if that were something awful. Why that is nothing compared with a woman who will never clean up or who will not try to be a little agreeable. I know so little of the men that I will not try to describe my feelings toward them. I would say this though: Men, be careful of the woman who is not good enough to keep herself clean and her home cheerful. I have had to live like I am at present for so long that I fear I could never cultivate cheerfulness or make a happy home. I consider the woman who will willfully destroy a person's right to the pursuit of happiness the very worst that can possibly exist. I am so desperately that I fear that I can't hold out much longer. May you never be in such a fix as this.

Dear Dolly—What can one put in the water when washing over curtains to keep them from fading? HOUSEWIFE

I have heard of people rinsing them in a weak solution of black tea or black coffee. A small amount of either may also be added to the rinse water.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a fellow for over two years and during that time I have been true to him, but he keeps saying that I am not. Dolly I give up dancing and several other things for him and he will not give up card playing and chicken fights for me. Dolly, should I give him up or try and make a man out of him. I love him and it would break my heart to give him up, but every woman heads up, and I suppose mine would too in time. If you were would you give up dancing and let him keep on going to chicken fights?

TODDLER

I would not give up dancing just to please him, when he won't do anything to please you. I fear you are falling down on the job of making a man out of him, since he has refused to do anything you want him to do. If you can't manage him now, you'll never be able to do it after you are married, so it might be a good idea to give him up while the giving is good.

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for a little advice. I am a young married man of 25 and have one child going on two years of age. Dolly, my wife picked up and left me without any reason whatever and she has told her friends that she is going to sue me for divorce and alimony. She said she could get enough off me so she would not have to work. Dolly, I love my wife and baby and would be glad to take her back if she wants to come. She says all that she married me for was to get away from her home and now when she gets her alimony she can live independent. I give her a nice home and plenty of everything and yet she was not satisfied. Dolly, why is it that women will marry and then get dissatisfied and want to leave their men. If she gets a divorce I want the baby, as I can take care of him. Dolly, my wife says she wants to have a good time running around with other men. Do you think the court will give her the baby? WORRIED HUSBAND

The court will not grant her a divorce under the circumstances. If you love her why don't you make another effort to get her to come and live with you.

Dear Miss Wise—Please allow me space in your valuable column. I am not seeking advice as the most of your readers, but I only want you to print this so the party it is meant for may see it. We were separated some time ago by a very peculiar misunderstanding and as he was told I didn't care for him and I was told the same, naturally we are both under the same impression. Now, Miss

Wise, I love him still and will always do so, as he was my first and only love. I saw him the other day getting on the street car as I was crossing the street and I ignored him, but my heart told me different as it brought back sweet memories to me of times when I was his only little girl as he always called me. If he should see this I hope he will answer in your column in some way I will know he still loves me as he will know I am ever the same by the little black pin as I still have it—and if he will only answer in some way to let me know he loves me I can live and die with the one thought that he kept his word to me. I have suffered as well as him by the cruel hands of others. Miss Wise, I hope you will not think this too long to print for it will do me a world of good if he sees it. Thanking you with all my heart. A READER

Here's hoping that he sees this letter and will answer it to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

As the dove finished speaking the Twins came to a place that looked like the edge of the world.

AWAY started the Twins over the Seven Valleys to the Kingdom of the Korshotts.

As they passed the white palace of the Princess Therma she gazed sadly down from her window in a tall tower.

She sighed, but not a word of greeting could she call to them. She had a secret that she dared not tell to anyone.

She kissed a white dove and sent it fluttering down from her tower to the green meadow where the road ran. It perched on a fence and then flew toward the Twins and settled on Nancy's shoulder.

"I shall stay with you until you are safely across the Seven Valleys," it cooed, "for they are dangerous to travelers. Besides Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, is still watching you from afar. The first valley is the Curlew Valley. The only way to get out of it is by the postern gate. And the postern gate is hard to find, but I'll help you; don't get discouraged."

As the dove finished speaking the Twins came to a place that looked like the edge of the world. They were on a high precipice. Homes, trees and fields looked like toys below them.

"This is Curlew Valley," said the dove. "The path down into it lies behind that large rock over your shoulder. Keep to the path and no matter what you see don't turn aside until I tell you."

The doves flew away then, down toward the valley below, and lighted on a top branch of an Indian tree. The Twins could no longer see it, but they could hear its soft voice cooing to them encouragingly.

"Come," said Nick. "We'll have to hurry, Nancy." And he started off toward the rock to find the path that led down into Curlew Valley.

It's a joyous treat to sit down to a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes

You'll agree that you never ate such delicious, such satisfying cereal as Kellogg's Corn Flakes! Those big, sunny-brown "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" are so fascinating in flavor and so crispy and crunchy that you don't wonder the children are thrilled to eat them!

81 ADDITIONS RESULT OF REVIVAL

That the two weeks' evangelistic services at the First Christian were successful, is proven by the fact that 81 additions were secured—not a record for the church of the cordial welcome, but one that means much to the congregation and is a fitting testimonial to the energies of the pastor, Rev. Gerald Culbertson, and Rev. Nate B. Crabtree, of Stamford, Ill., who left for his home Monday morning, and who did fine work as song leader. The services came to a close Sunday evening, with a record breaking attendance. Several adults were added to the church roster and every member was encouraged to the point that the church will move forward as never before. Rev. Culbertson was at his best, last evening, and the services will long linger in the hearts of those who were present. That religion is not a dead matter which is shown by the fact that the collections Sunday which amounted to approximately $500. The expenses of the revival will thus be handsomely taken care of.

During the meetings, Rev. Culbertson shouldered the responsibilities with great fortitude and courage. Coming here as he did but one week before the opening day of the meeting, it can be readily understood that he was considerably handicapped. But during the meetings, he learned to love the congregation, who were ever ready to lend a hand, and he was able to express his thanks for the assistance given him, and stated that the publicity given the meeting by the Morning Sun and Evening Times was a revelation. In no place in which he has ever served a church had the press been so liberal in the use of space.

Rev. Culbertson was unanimously tendered a week's rest, which he will spend with his family at Rocking, W. Va., at his option. He will remain here this week, as there will be baptismal services tonight, and a reception will be tendered the new members on Wednesday evening of this week. A program is now being arranged and will appear in the local papers, Tuesday or Wednesday.

OHIO RIVER RISING SLOWLY

DEVEREAUX SAYS
46 OR 47 FEET

F. B. Winter, local river observer received the following telegram from Weather Forecaster W. C. Devereaux of Cincinnati Monday:

"Crest in Ohio river will be reached at Portsmouth at 46 or 47 feet during Tuesday. River is falling as far down as Parkersburg."

River Rising Slowly Here
The Ohio river continued rising slowly in the Portsmouth district Monday morning when a stage of 42.6 feet was registered here. The crest of the present rise is expected to pass Portsmouth tonight and rivermen predicted Monday that the stream will not go over the 46 foot mark and will be falling here within twenty-four hours.

Boat movements Monday were: Tacoma departed at 6 a. m. for Cincinnati and the Hetsy Ann passed down this afternoon for the Queen City.

Sciotos Falling at Pikeson
The Sciotos river was falling slowly at Pikeson today and was not expected to be off the road between there and Waverly until sometime Tuesday morning. This morning the river at Pikeson had fallen a foot and one inch since Sunday morning.

This morning the river was also reported over the towpath at Camp Creek, Pike county. This section of road is very seldom covered which indicates a higher stage this time than for several years in the Sciotos.

The river was also reported falling very slowly at Lucasville and it will take sometime for the water to leave the road leading from Lucasville to the West Side.

According to T. J. Coo of the Portsmouth Automobile Club the water is off the Sciotos Trail just south of Chillicothe.

The only road now open to Columbus is by the Jackson and Richmond, also pike.

EASTER AT FRANKLIN AVENUE CHURCH

As a climax to the evangelistic campaign of the past four weeks yesterday was indeed a red letter day. All records were broken as to attendance in all of the services, beginning with the sunrise meeting at 6:30, with an attendance of 75. This was a most delightful and inspiring service, conducted by the assisting evangelist, Mrs. Anna Smith. The S. S. made a new record for itself, with an attendance of 62, all classes showing a splendid percentage. The evangelistic note was again sounded at the close of the S. S. hour and a goodly number made their decision for Christ. Then followed the morning service, to accommodate which the doors were lifted between the main auditorium and the S. S. auditorium, with more than double the usual Sunday morning attendance. Mrs. Smith also sang a solo, entitled, "The Lord is Risen," which touched the hearts of the worshippers. The baptismal service, according to the usual ritual of the Methodist church was also a very interesting service. Then followed an address by the pastor on "The Church, the Body of Christ," in which he emphasized the great privilege of being a part of the militant church of Jesus Christ. At the close of the address opportunity was given for those who desired to unite with the church to do so. At 7:00 o'clock a capacity audience again assembled to take part in the evening service. Mrs. W. E. Staker presided at the organ in her usual efficient way, with splendid selections for Easter Day. The choir also rendered another Easter anthem which was followed by a solo sung by Miss Hazel Groom, both numbers being well rendered and well received. The sermon by the pastor then followed, the topic being, "Victory Through Jesus Christ" taking as his text 1 Cor. 15:57. "But thanks be unto God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." At the close of the sermon Mrs. Smith made an appeal to the audience in the singing of the solo, "You Must Do Something Tonight," after which another appeal was made to the unsaved, urging them to accept Christ. An invitation was also given to those who wished to unite with the church. In the morning and evening services 34 persons united with the church on profession of faith. Besides these 8 transfers were announced. 8 infants and 7 adults were dedicated to God in baptism, one by immersion and 6 by sprinkling.

Mrs. Smith has rendered splendid service throughout the campaign with her messages of song and in her addresses, and her work will long be remembered by those who had the privilege of working with her.

TY COBB JR. WILL SHORTLY ENTER PRINCETON
THE name of Cobb in the near future will probably help to uphold the traditions of Princeton. Ty Cobb, Jr., son of the great and only Ty Cobb, plans to enter Princeton. He aspires to shine as a pitcher.

This will be good news to the Tiger athletic authorities as a Cobb in baseball means something. His ambition to so shine is not surprising, since Ty Sr. always worked out at pitching in practice and says he should have tried twirling instead of out-fielding.

Blood will tell, and it looks as if the Blue of Yale and the Crimson of Harvard will have something to worry about when Cobb is announced as the Princeton pitcher.

County officers visited the McColough vicinity Sunday and when a search of the premises of Charles Emmons and Harve Emmons resulted in the uncovering of a still and a quantity of liquor, the two brothers together with three other men, Albert McLary, Mike Keener and Ray Branan were taken into custody and brought to the county jail.

When brought before Squire Morgan Monday the Emmons brothers were fined $200 each under the plea of guilty to manufacturing liquor unlawfully and the three other defendants, who claim West Virginia as their homes, were fined $100 each for possessing liquor unlawfully. PAY TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER HERO

Ohio Avenue Christian church at New Boston was filled to overflowing Sunday afternoon when final tribute was paid to Private Clifford Counts, one of New Boston's soldier heroes who gave his life on the battlefield of Belgium during the World War.

The large turnout of friends at the final rites showed the high esteem in which Private Counts was held by his friends and acquaintances in the village. The funeral was the largest ever held in New Boston, there being more than 250 automobiles in line when the funeral cortege moved to Wheelersburg cemetery.

The body of Private Counts arrived home last Friday from overseas. He died on the battlefield at Siremburg, Belgium, when a German sniper sent a bullet through his brain as he was crawling over the ground to get aid for companions who were detached from their company while in the midst of fighting.

The body remained at the home of the mother, Mrs. Naomie Counts, on Rhodes avenue, Saturday and Sunday and many persons called at the home during those two days.

J. C. Harris, superintendent of Ohio Avenue Christian Sunday School who knew Private Counts well, conducted the last rites in the church. The church choir rendered several special selections, including "Face To Face."

The pall bearers were Stanley Johnson, Lewis Hickman, Clarence

Fultz, Roy Carter, Irvin Bartlett and Samuel Larson, all World War veterans of New Boston. The fifty World War veterans of the village were in attendance at the funeral.

The body was taken to Wheelersburg cemetery where the remains were given military burial with New Boston veterans forming a firing squad while another of their number sounded taps.

Several hundred were in attendance at the burial in Wheelersburg.

Easter Fittingly Observed At Pleasant Green

Sunday was observed fittingly by members of Pleasant Green Baptist church. Mrs. Annie R. Miller of Cincinnati, State Women's worker, was with us and addressed a fine meeting at 3 p. m. The Sunday school pupils rendered a program at 8 p. m. to a crowded house. The collection for the day was over $200, mostly for the new church fund. Most every member of the church gave a dollar as a pledge of support and a show of their desire for the new building which will be started next month. All are working hard for the big rally on the second Sunday in May when we expect to raise $3,000. All clubs are bustling and success is assured by the way all members are working. We thank friends for their liberal donation.

McDOWELL CASE POSTPONED
TOLEDO, O., April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Following a recent investigation by the state prohibition department, law enforcement conditions at Lorain have improved greatly, and the proposed removal of Mayor William F. Grall, on a charge of failure to enforce the law in status quo, the governor's office announced today.

The governor's office intimated that because of the greatly improved conditions at Lorain, no action may be taken against the present administration unless law enforcement conditions are again reported. However, no official announcement to this effect was forthcoming.

More than a year ago, dry citizens of Lorain sought the removal of Mayor Grall on charges that he was failing to enforce the state prohibition laws. Similar charges recently caused the state prohibition commission to make another investigation.

This time, however, many of the drys who a year ago sought Grall's removal, favored his retention on the ground that he was trying to make good, and on the ground that his removal at this time was being sought by bootleggers against whom he had been operating.

A POPULAR FALLACY

A headline in a morning paper announces, over a dispatch from Washington: "Free Seeds Safe For Another Year."

Strange to say it was not followed by that ancient joke, that has become a widely accepted fact, government seeds do not grow. Truth to say government seeds do grow. Undeniably they are the best seeds furnished. And there is no reason why they should not. They are produced under the best accepted and their friendliness tested by the surest scientific methods.

There is no estimating the harm done by alleged wits in making these seeds the butt of their fool jokes. For it is a sad condition that too many tillers of the soil are "just naturally so" against any scientific or improved methods in agriculture, and they welcome and approve any jibes at their expense.

The United States has one of the best agricultural departments in the world. Its discoveries and inventions of improved methods have been of inestimable benefit to the farming interests. Its work should be supported in every direction so that it may have the entire confidence of every tiller of the soil.

Yes, its seeds do grow, both in the valuable ideas and suggestions it is constantly formulating and in the germs of grains and plants it is sending out. If these latter sometimes fail it is not because of lack of quality in them, but because they too frequently fall into inexperienced and careless hands. They will be distributed for another year and many years after that, congress continuing to amuse itself by knocking the appropriation therefor and quickly restoring it.

KEEP EVERLASTINGLY AT IT

THE grand jury which adjourned, Thursday, duplicated the idea of many of its predecessors by condemning the court house and jail, calling for new and fit structures to replace both.

It even went further by advising the county commissioners to take the necessary steps to hold an election to authorize the issuance of construction bonds.

This may be commendable as admirable work. Of course, the need for the new court house and jail is so flagrant as to be universally accepted as a fact, but they never will be got without continuous and emphatic condemnation. It may even require several elections, but a beginning must be made and Scio county can not continue to rest forever under the approval of having the worst public buildings anywhere west of the Ohio. She ought to have and will have structures of her own that will in their size and appointments meet her requirements and be a credit to her and not an apparent reproach.

PEDESTALS AND THE FUTURE

IT seems to be an inherent American weakness to make pedestals somewhat easily and then to put men on them before it is at all certain that such men deserve it, or that the pedestal will hold them.

There is much to be said for enthusiasm; there is much to be said for the ability which leads men to see in imagination a $10,000 a year business grow into one which leads a million a year. Some of the most splendid achievements of our day started first as an ardent wish or dream, which, when it had gathered enough force, became reality. When Balloon first laid the idea of a Panama canal before the emperor of Spain and made surveys in 1515 men no doubt looked upon their explorer as a visionary with more imagination than good sense. Today the canal is as real and practicable as a city street.

Our quest for happiness would be futile indeed if we were not so able and willing to forget past disappointments, and with a liberal use of imaginary material, rebuild stately mansions on the ruins of the old. It is not merely what we do this hour that lays the foundation for our future; our achievements in years to come derive their importance and dimensions somewhat from our plans and hopes and yearnings. As a sage has said: "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's Heaven for?"

And still this reaching out is not without its dangers. Disappointment and heartache lie in store for him who in his futile reaching out overlooks the things which may be grasped and must be held so that the future may not prove altogether visionary. "Extend your reach, but make sure of your grasp," is philosophy couched by the wisdom of years.

Whether we will or not, we must paint roscas the future; which is akin to putting men on pedestals. An innate human craving is not satisfied until we do. And men grow in stature in proportion to what others think of them. Scoff and jeer at them long enough, and all but a few will think the scoffing and jeering merited, and every one will fall somewhat short of his best, because others withheld from him the confidence without which great things are seldom done. The man who weighs in a nicety another's efforts and capabilities and leaves no margin of good will and hope, contributes nothing to progress.

Since pedestals we must have, it is wise to make sure that the men whom we place on them are not excited beyond all reason; to make sure when we select our leaders that they can in some measure fulfill our expectations, but we must not withdraw from them at our slightest whim the support which they need to carry a difficult task to completion.

No American bootlegger will object to deporting alien competitors.

If Texas has any more like Blanton, it is suggested that they be kept out of congress.

Since George Harvey will not be there to make a speech, there is hope for the Georgia party.

JOSEPH MAKES HIMSELF KNOWN TO HIS BRETHREN

THEN Joseph could not refrain himself and said, "I am Joseph, doth my father yet live? Be not angry with yourselves that ye sold me hither, God did send me before you to preserve life and he hath made me a ruler throughout the land of Egypt. Haste ye and tell my father of all my glory in Egypt and all ye have seen and bring down my father hither." He fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck and wept. They went back, told Jacob that Joseph still lived and was governor over all the land of Egypt.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 17.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Early up and out of myself for joy almost over my dog's fear of a frog. The city in terror about hand-dirty, my news vendor being clapped up during the night for a hold job. A mad world, and may God bless us out of it.

To see Ledor, the play man, to article with him about some scribbling and then with press men to see Mistress Rose Coghlan, who is ill and in deep distress for want of money which is a pity, and she might be brave. Home and at my stult but with no zest therefor.

Lunched with W. Hogg to say farewell against his taking a baroque for France. There with my wife to see "The Rubicon," a naughty play, silly writ, and I would loiter go to the music halls to see jugglers and the like.

Dined at The Double Door and mightily taken by a fair lady who proved to be Miss Gypsy O'Brien, the play actress, who chid me for not bowing, yet I did not know her, being so blinded by her beauty. Walked to the Hudson and sat about on the bench until the clock struck twelve. So home and to bed.

The designers and sellers of ladies' fine frocks who have their establishments in costly residential mansions off the avenue, employ beautiful young women who are known in the trade as "paraders." They are women who wear clothes with distinction and it is their job to appear on the streets in the select styles of the house they may represent. It is a subtle form of advertising, but very effective. Those who see the "paraders" begin to search the exclusive shops for the same designs and, of course, they find them. It is said that some of the "paraders" are paid $200 a week and in many instances they are young girls of aristocratic families who are in need of ready money.

in London, Paris and Berlin. And was born in New York. But he wears old-fashioned clothes, likes to walk along and eat apples as he strolls and gaze at things in a detached sort of way. Incidentally he has given Broadway more up-to-date slang than George Ade in his palmiest day, Ohio.

He came down into the breakfast room of his club at noon, a little slinky from a hectic night before. "How do you feel?" asked a croup. "Like a million dollars," he said. Then added: "In Russian riddles."

A bit of Fifth Avenue cafe psychology. A gaudy Parisian pastry parlor opened near 50th street. The windows were filled with cakes, French pastries, cold meats frozen in blocks of ice and the like. It looked very much like a glorified Broadway pastry shop—a trifle more ornate. It did no business. Then it closed for a week. All window signs were removed. The glass chandeliers inside were supplanted by hidden lights. The entrance was roped. One must have an advance reservation. It now prospers—and under the same management. And no difference in the food.

A Mid Summer Night's Dream or Things That Yet May Be I stand by the bed at midnight As the clock is chiming the hour And the moon glows over the campus From behind the campanile tower.

A feeling of sadness comes over me A wave of regret this night. A few hours before, I hung my pin In the shimmering bright moon light.

We stood on the bridge at Eleven As the turbulent waters rolled on, And they bore us away on their bosom In a course this is sad and long.

For aye will the way cry sever, No more will the wine flow red! With sudden heart I resign myself And fall prostrate 'cross the bed. —Iowa State Student.

WHEN A FELLOW NEEDS A FRIEND — BY BRIGGS

Unto The End
"How's this?" asked the lawyer. "You've named six bankers in your will to be pallbearers. Of course, it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?"
"No, judge, that's all right. These fellows have carried me for so long they might as well finish the job."
